51. Ci is entitled to increase the annual management fees by giving the Investor 90 days' notice.

Net Asset Value ("NAV") prices of Funds

52. The NAV prices of all Funds will fluctuate according to the daily market value of the investment instruments that Funds are invested in from time to time. Ci does not guarantee the return of any Fund.
53. NAV prices are calculated on a net asset value (NAV) basis by determining the total market value of all investment instruments in the Fund, including any income accruals, less any permissible deductions.
54. The following costs may be deducted from the Fund: brokerage fees, security services tax, value added tax, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee and custodian fees and the annual management fees of Ci which include investment management fees.
55. NAV prices will be published on the Ci website daily and in at least one national newspaper.

Valuation dates and times

56. All Funds are priced daily at 17h00 on every business day. Because pricing takes place at the close of each business day, the price is only available the following business day.

Repurchase of investments

57. Unless Ci has exercised its right to ring-fence the relevant Fund, it will process repurchase instructions received before 14h00 on any business day at the earliest opportunity, but within two business days of receipt of a correctly completed Ci repurchase form. The proceeds of the repurchase may only be paid once assets have been liquidated in the Fund and converted into cash.
58. In certain cases, there will be a delay in payment to the Investor. Electronic fund transfers of lump sum investments take 10 business days to clear and once-off collections and debit order investments take 60 calendar days to clear. No investment may be repurchased before the relevant bank has cleared these investment amounts. Furthermore, no regular withdrawals or financial advisory fees will be paid during these periods (although the financial advisory fees will still accrue during these periods).
59. When an investment amount is deposited into the relevant Fund deposit account(s), it is used to buy units in the relevant Fund(s). If the Investor wishes to either re-allocate the investment amount, or have it returned after units have already been bought, the Investor will receive the market value of the relevant units. The market value may be greater or less than the amount deposited.
60. Any repurchase transaction that shall cause the account balance to drop below R2 500, and where there are no recurring transactions on the account, may result in a full redemption.
61. A repurchase instruction may cause a capital gain on your investment and you may, therefore, be taxed on the capital gain (CGT).

Borrowing and scrip lending

62. Ci may borrow up to 10% of the market value of any Fund to provide liquidity, i.e. make sure that there is enough cash available for transactions relating to the Fund, such as repurchase instructions.
63. Ci may enter into scrip lending transactions (i.e. lend out the paper of the underlying assets in the Fund to generate more income for the Fund) subject to the provisions of the Deed and the Act.

Fund closures

64. Ci may close any Fund to new business to ensure that the Fund is managed in accordance with their mandates.

65. In the event of the death of an Investor, Ci must be notified in writing along with the Investor's personal details, account number and a copy of the death certificate.
66. Ci may rely on external sources to confirm the death of an Investor.
67. The Investor's investment will be transferred to an Estate Late account until the estate has been wound up, or upon further instruction from the executor of the Estate.
68. Ci will only act on instructions received from the executor of the Investor's estate.

Variations to the Terms and Conditions

69. Ci may change these Terms and Conditions from time to time. The investor acknowledges that by transacting on and maintaining their investment and/or accessing their online account from time to time, the Investor will be bound by the current version of the Terms and Conditions and all previous versions shall be superseded by the current version. We may change these Terms and Conditions to cater for amendments to applicable legislation and/or changes in our business process. Ci will ensure that the updated Terms and Conditions are available on our website www.cicollective.co.za or from Ci Client Services on 0861 000 881 or e-mail clientservices@cicollective.co.za.

Tax consequences

70. Ci will not be responsible for any loss or damages arising from changes in tax or other legislation that may have an impact on the investment.

Tax regulations

71. Tax regulations require Ci to collect additional information about each Investor's or controlling person's tax residency. In certain circumstances Ci may be obliged to report information of the Investor's income to the South African Revenue Service who may, in turn, share such information with the applicable foreign tax authority.
- Where Ci does not receive sufficient information from an Investor or controlling person to ascertain the Investor's tax residency, Ci may request further information from the Investor in the form of a valid self-certification. For new investments, Ci is prevented from opening an account until sufficient information has been provided.
72. Failure to make the necessary declarations or provide sufficient information may result in the following:
- Limiting transactability on an account until the required tax residency information, including Tax Identification Numbers (TINs), is provided;
 - Account suspension or closure if a self-certification is not provided within 90 days of it being requested;
 - Dividends Withholding Tax being levied and withheld at the current rate;
 - Dividends Withholding Tax being levied and withheld on Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT) distributions;
 - Withholding Tax on Interest being levied and withheld at the current rate;
 - The investor becoming reportable to the applicable foreign tax authority due to South Africa's obligations to exchange financial account information between member countries.
73. Any interest earned by foreign investors from the funds may be subject to Withholding Tax on Interest ("WTI"). Unless a foreign investor submits a declaration to Ci to the effect that they are exempt or qualify for a reduced rate of tax, Ci will be obliged to withhold the withholding tax from the interest portion of the income earned by the investor for purposes of WTI.
74. The investor shall be responsible for notifying Ci promptly of any changes to the information provided by the Investor.
75. Ci will under no circumstances be liable for any costs, expenses or damages including, but not limited to, any direct, indirect, special, consequential or incidental damages caused by or arising from any late submission, omission or incorrect or incomplete information provided by the Investor.

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities ("CIS") are generally medium to long terms investments. The value of participatory interests may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. CIS are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. Different classes of units apply to the portfolios and are subject to different fees and charges. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request from Ci. Ci does not provide any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of the portfolio. A fund of funds is a portfolio that invests in portfolios of collective investment schemes, which levy their own charges, which could result in a higher fee structure for the fund of funds. A feeder fund is a portfolio that invests in a single portfolio of a collective investment scheme, which levies its own charges and which could result in a higher fee structure for the feeder fund. Forward pricing is used. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of underlying international investments to go up or down. International Investments may include additional risks such as potential constraints on liquidity and repatriation of funds, macroeconomic risk, political risk, foreign exchange risk, tax risk, settlement risk as well as potential limitations on the availability of market information. Any portfolio may be closed from time to time in order to manage them more efficiently in accordance with their mandate. Additional information on the portfolios may be obtained, free of charge, directly from Ci. Ci retains full legal responsibility for the third-party named portfolios. Ci is a non-voting Ordinary member of the Association for Savings & Investment SA (ASISA).
